The quality of handcrafted quartz tiles

Our tiles have a very long history and tradition. The golden age of the art of Iznik tile making was in the 16th century. But as the orders from the palaces declined, and ancient craftsmen kept their secrets of production very close, the art gradually disappeared and was lost 400 years ago. After three years of research and development, the Iznik Foundation, partner of Iznik Tiles and Ceramics, was able to revive the ancient tile-making techniques.

We are active in over 15 countries all over the world. Our tiles are used in projects ranging from hotels, restaurants and private residences to metro stations, schools and parks.
